abc television / American Film Institute - Viewing Party Application

This screenshot shows a viewing party interface for the TV show "Grey's Anatomy". The top navigation bar includes "VIEWING PARTY!", "GREY'S ANATOMY", "Characters", "Close", "Music", "Extract", "INVITE A FRIEND", "BROWSE PARTIES", "CREATE A PARTY", and "MY ACCOUNT". The main area features a map of the United States with active viewing parties marked by colored dots. A sidebar lists "Party Guests" such as Ted Brantle, Kris McTrixie, Scott Holmes, etc. The bottom navigation bar includes "abc", a user profile, "SEND", and a mood slider from "FRIENDLY" to "ANNOYED".

This screenshot shows the same viewing party interface as above, but with a larger map of the United States. A callout box on the map indicates "8 Viewing Parties 2 within your timeline" and "You are here! [lat/lon]". Below the map, a list of active viewing parties is displayed, including locations like GOOD BUKE, ECHO PARK, CENTRUS, and ILLUSTONE. The bottom navigation bar is identical to the first screenshot.

Duel Widget Gameplay - V2

1 Duel Game section of widget is the default state of the widget, options include "Start Game" or "How to Play" Design Recommendation: Duel Logo and set Imagery should be prominent on this screen

2 User clicks "Start Game," question appears along with four answers

3 User drags chips onto answers, and clicks lock

4 Correct answer is highlighted

5 Next question loads, users chip count reflects loss

6 User has completed four questions without missing a correct answer. Thanks for playing text appears, and link to play full version of the game on ABC.com

If user does not place a chip on a correct answer on any given question, user has lost the duel and text appears:

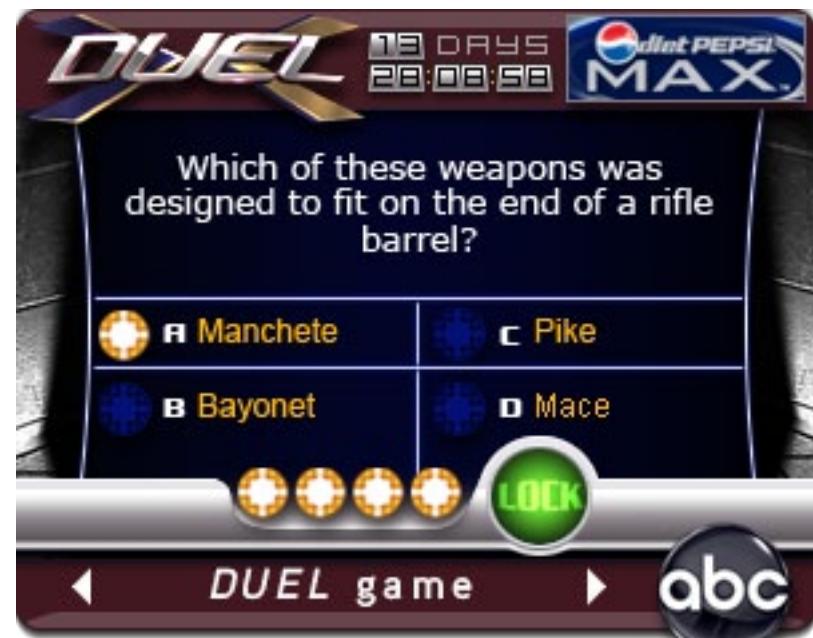

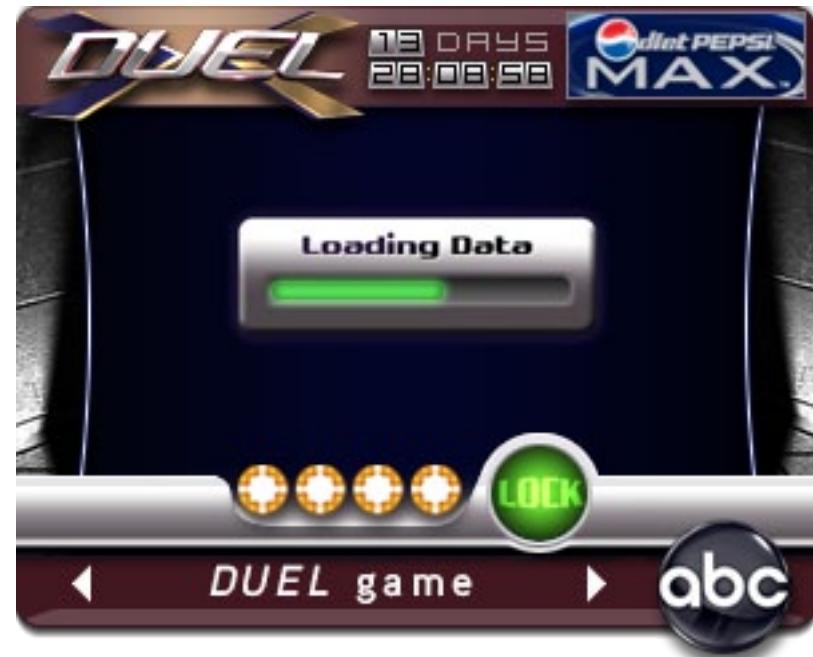

You lost your Duel! Come back tomorrow for more or go now to ABC.com to play the full version"

Not Shown: On clicking how to play, the following text appears:
At the start of the duel, you will be given 4 chips. On each question, you can use 1, 2, 3 or 4 chips to cover answers, depending on how confident you feel. You will lose chips placed on wrong answers, but gain back the chip on the right answer.

Once you have selected your answer, lock by pressing the green "Lock" button. The computer will then reveal the right answer. If you have not placed your token on a correct answer, you have lost the duel and the game is over.

The screenshot shows the Crackle website's homepage. At the top, there's a navigation bar with icons for Originals, Movies, Television, Show Guide, Mobile, and Login. Below the bar, a large banner features the word "CRACKLE" in red and white. To the left of the banner is a sidebar with a grid of thumbnail images. The main content area displays several movie sections: "Crackle Movies Exclusives" with posters for "Quicksilver", "Candyman", "Higher Learning", and "Godzilla"; "My Panel" with posters for "Mothra", "The Breed", "Johnny Mnemonic", and "The People vs. Lar..."; and "Family Clips" with thumbnails for "1001 Arabian Nights", "Open Season", "Baron Von Muncha...", and "Whale Rider". Each section has a "HOST RECENT" button.

This screenshot shows the same Crackle homepage as the first one, but with a prominent promotional graphic for the movie "21". The graphic features a large red number "21" and a playing card image of a Jack of Hearts. Below the graphic, there's a brief description: "An MIT math whiz is recruited by a teacher to join a specialized team of card counters.
